H.K. CURRENCY PETITION

petition has been submitted to Government by the Chinese Chamber of Commerce of Koseloon to withdraw the present ten-cent and fiverent notes from circulation and to replace them with either new notes or coins. The reasons given for the petition is that some of these notes are so dilandated that people (expecially handkers) will not accept them, thus giving rise to arguments. It is further argued that they ure disease carriers.

Utilisation of Rubble. The Association urged the employment of specially designed rubble clearing machines as well as machines for scientific conversion of rubble into bricks for building purposes.

Under the present manual clearance, about 82,000,000 bricks had been obtained from rubble in Hamburg, but any serious rebuilding would require at least ten times that amount, the Association said. #### Reaction To Bevin

Paris, July, 6. Prospects of a hig line-up behind the two Western Powers in their drive for economic recovery without Soviet cooperation were believed here to have been given a major boost by British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin's July 4 speech in London, warning Russia against new provocations and urging a big helping hand for France. The speech was prominently played in today's Paris morning papers and was blown up as a major sensation under huge headlines in all afternoon papers, except the Communist paper Ce Soir. Bevin's references to France were particularly welcomed here as the French, ever since 1944, have Quads Born felt that both Great Britain and the United States were inclined to treat them as a second class nation and admitted only on sufferance to voice in world affairs. Bevin's tribute, coming immediately on top of the break with Russia on economic recovery, was hailed here as the today reported the birth took the next biggest bag, 619 best sign yet that Britain and France henceforth would move together on the basis of equality boys and a girl—to a chance of South losing a trick in dlamonds and two in clubs until South went to work. The heart K lead was won by the A, the spade A. K and Q scored, the heart 9 ruffed by the apade J and the club 2 led to the 10. East won with the Q and made the fatal error of returning the 9. Now the sun dawned for South, a good card-reader. Counting West as having only the K left, he played the 6 and captured, the K with the A. This established a winning finesse of the club 7 against the 8, and the J then furnished a discard of the diamond 2. The last tricks of course went to the diamond A and three spades for a South terrifle score in an apparently iml'possible contract.

The statement by Mr. Hugh

The Anglo-Egyptian interim sterling agreement, signed last Monday, providing a temporary arrangement for dealing with Egyptian Sterling balances, has met with a mixed reception in the Egyptian press, which is unanimous only in considering that some of its terms are "technically incomprehensible."

The "Al Ahram," expressing dissatisfaction with the agreement, said that its terms were obscure and equivocal. "That is why the agreement is worrying us.

SPRINGBOKS SCORED 278 FOR SIX

London, July 5. The South African tourists put together a very satisfactory total of 278 for 6 wickets by the close of play in the third Test Match, which opened at Old Trafford today.

Mitchell, who scored 80, batted confidently and seemed all set for his century when he was unfortunately run out with the score at 214. Viljoen had played a half-volley from Hollies to deep mid-on and set off for the run, but Mitchell started late and was out by yards as Evans whipped off the bails from Hutton's swift throw straight into his gloves above the
